MEDIATION

Terms and Conditions

Payments

- Payment must be received before services are provided.
- A cancellation fee of 60% is charged if the appointment is cancelled within 72 hours.
- A cancellation fee of 100% is charged if the appointment is cancelled on the day.
- A cancellation fee or part/full payment will be forfeited by both parties regardless of the party that cancels.
- You agree that this is a reasonable fee, reflects our cost, and is appropriate because cancellations within the 72-24 hour window may result in a session that another client could have booked that would now more than likely be unused.
- If payment isn't made after three (3) requests, Adelaide Family Mediation will notify you of its intent to direct deposit the fees on your behalf with payment details stored through PinPay or pursue legal ramifications for payment.
- Any legal ramifications may include additional costs to the client that will be passed on.

Terms and Conditions

Suitability and Section 60i certificates

- Your Family Dispute Resolution Practitioner will assess the suitability for mediation.
- In some circumstances, the Family Dispute Resolution Practitioner may deem mediation unsuitable. In this instance, a section 60i certificate may be issued.
- Responding parties to mediation have fourteen (14) days to respond to the first invitation to participate in Family Dispute Resolution.
- Adelaide Family Mediation may send a second correspondence providing an additional seven (7) days to respond to the request to participate in mediation (this is at the mediator's discretion).
- If there is no response from the other party or the party declines to participate in mediation, the Family Dispute Practitioner may provide a section 60i certificate.

Terms and Conditions

- Adelaide Family Mediation does not offer legal advice.
- The practitioners at Adelaide Family Mediation are Family Dispute Resolution Practitioners accredited by the attorney general department and are not Family Lawyers.
